

PROJECT LEAD

Leadership, Effectiveness and Diversity.

» Why Partner?

Too many people of color are left out of leadership roles. For over 30 years, United Way of King County’s Project LEAD has been working to change that.

Project LEAD—Leadership, Effectiveness, and Diversity—is a four-week training program that successfully trains highly qualified people of color to serve as nonprofit board members and lead the way for change. It also actively matches these skilled graduates with nonprofit boards and committees and strengthens governance capacity of local nonprofits by bringing graduates’ expertise and perspectives to the table.

Partnering with us on Project LEAD shows your commitment to building a more racially equitable future for our community while demonstrating your organization’s dedication to creating equal leadership opportunities. Investing in this program also offers ways for your company’s employees to build deeper connections to the local community and social causes they are passionate about.
